- 329 TEA CUP AND SAUCER OF THE CELEBRATED SERVICE PRESENTED TO MRS. BURKE. See photograph 3

If the results of CHAMPION's labours were of such excellence when he was urged by pride, he far surpassed them when he worked for love. The most elaborately ornamented tea service known, was made by him, as the joint gift of himself and his wife to Mrs. Burke. Two figures, representing respectively Liberty, holding a spear surmounted by a Phrygian cap, and shield bearing the Gorgon's head, and Plenty, with a cornucopia, support a pedestal, on which stands Hymen with a flaming torch. The pedestal bears a shield, emblazoned with the arms of Burke, empaling Nugent, and is inscribed at the foot:—

I. BURKE. OPT. B. M.
R. ET I. CHAMPION. D. D.D.
PIGNVS. AMICITIÆ.
III. NON. NOV. MDCCLXXIV.

Translated—R. and J. CHAMPION gave this as a token of friendship to J. BURKE, the best of British wives, on the 8th day of November, 1774.

The cup also bears on either side a wreath of roses, from which hang the scales of Justice, crossed by a spear, bearing the Phrygian cap, and a flaming torch, and the hands of friendship clasping a caduceus. It has a rich border of arabesque gold, enclosing spaces of Byzantine pattern work, on a canary yellow. Engraved in Owen, p. 96.

A contested election does not often leave many artistic relics whereby to remember it. That of Bristol in 1774 is at least an exception. When Edmund Burke became a candidate for the representation of that city, he accepted the invitation of one of Champion's friends, MR. JOSEPH SMITH, a merchant, and during the election he resided with him and his family at No. 19, Queen Square, Bristol. BURKE was so charmed with this polite attention, that he commissioned CHAMPION to make a tea service, on which he was to exhaust all the resources of his art, for presentation to Mrs. Smith as a souvenir.

The shape is from a Dresden model, and the painting is also of that ceramic school. Wreaths and festoons of laurel in green. It bears the arms of the SMITH family, beautifully emblazoned, and the initials of Mrs. SMITH's name, painted in bright blossoms, with rare precision and delicacy. * * * The artist depended on the effect of the matted gilding, very delicately wrought with a burnished pattern, rather than on a merely bright surface, and the contrast of the deep green and dead gold is charming. Vide Owen, p. 95.

- 331 Cup and Saucer, painted with wreaths of flowers, initials J. A. C. in laurels

- 332 Chocolate Cup, painted with festoons of flowers, suspended from a gold border, with a gold scroll border on the inside, at the bottom are the cross and initials J. H., and date 1774. See photograph 3

This cup is part of a service made for Mr. Joseph Harford, iron merchant of Bristol, and one of the partners of the manufactory, and the date is the earliest known. Vide Owen, p. 94.
